

Unpredictable

These things are all unpredictable but can turn out very well. When I was diagnosed I had rapidly graying brown hair. After Chemo, it came in jet black, but then fairly quickly reverted to its original brown. 7 years later the grey is just starting to return. My brother, who's 65, now has hair completely white. While I might prefer his health, he's more annoyed about my lack of grey.